Introductionâ?¦

â??This paper summarises a rich discussion about how to evaluate the impact of Knowledge Brokering work that took place on the Knowledge Brokers Forum during October and November 2011. The debate aimed to share members experience and insights about evaluating impact in order to be better able to evaluate our own work and build greater understanding of the potential of the sector. This summary aims to draw together the richness of the discussion, bring together themes and identify emerging areas of consensus and ideas for action. â?•
