The first two 3ie working papers are now available:

Working Paper No. 1, *Reflections on some current debates in impact evaluation*, by Howard White reviews some of the criticisms commonly leveled at quantitative approaches to impact evaluation, arguing that many are based on mis-conceptions; and Working Paper No. 2, *Better Evidence for a Better World*, edited by Mark Lipsey and Eamonn Noonan (produced jointly with The Campbell Collaboration) reviews the need for, and uses of, evidence in various fields of social policy.
