Measuring Impact: Lessons from the MCC for the Broader Impact Evaluation Community

Description

Tweet

William Savedoff and Christina Droggitis, Centre for Global Development, Aug 2011. Available as pdf (2 pages)

Excerpt:

â??One organization that has taken the need for impact evaluation seriously is the Millennium Challenge Corporation. The first of the MCC programs came to a close this fiscal year, and in the next year the impact evaluations associated with them will begin to be published.

Politiciansâ?? responses to the new wave of evaluations will set a precedent, either one that values transparency and encourages aid agencies to be public about what they are learning or one that punishes transparency and encourages agencies to hide findings or simply cease commissioning evaluations.â?•

Category

1. Uncategorized

Tags

1. budget
2. impact evaluations
3. Learning
4. transparency

Date
11/10/2026
Date Created
11/08/2011
Author
admin