Venue: Claremont Graduate University, Southern California

Professional Development Workshop Series

Claremont Graduate University is proud to offer our annual line-up of acclaimed workshops for professionals, academics, and students who seek to hone their research and evaluation skills. Presenters from across North America will gather in beautiful Claremont, California, to teach participants from academia, research institutes and think tanks, for-profit and not-for-profit organizations, and the public sector. As always, this yearâ??s series offers several new workshops as well as long-standing favorites.

Each workshop lasts one full day. Workshops in this series have consistently sold out in previous years, so save your seat in the workshops of your choice by registering online today.
