The Big Push Back (and push forward)

Description

Tweet

â??On the 22nd September, Rosalind Eyben organised a meeting of some seventy development practitioners and researchers worried about the current trend for funding organisations to support only those programmes designed to deliver easily measurable results, although these may not support transformative processes of positive and sustainable changes in peopleâ??s lives.

Following on from a major conference in May in the Netherlands about evaluative practices in relation to social transformation (http://evaluationrevisited.wordpress.com/), the meeting took the first steps in strategizing collectively in support of these practicesa?• Attached is Rosalinda??s brief report of the meeting.

PS: 11 October 2010. See the latest posting by Ros Eyben on this topic here, on the Hauser Centre blog

Category

1. Uncategorized

Tags

- 1. accountability
- 2. measurement
- 3. transformation

Date

13/11/2025

Date Created

27/09/2010

Author

admin