

Comic book Theories of Change?

Description

Tweet

Inspired by visitors's positive responses to the imaginative use of flow charts I have wondered how else Theories of Change could be described. The following thought came to me early this morning!

(with apologies to South Park)

See 6 Free Sites for Creating Your Own Comics, at Mashable, for links to strippgenerator and others

AN OFFER: I will give a £50 donation to Oxfam UK to the person who can come up with the best comic strip description of the Theory of Change of a real development project. Post your entry using Comment below, with a link to where the comic is and a link to where we can find a factual description of the project it represents. Your comic strip version can be as humorous (slapstick, farce, wit, irony, sarcasm, parody, gallows, juvenile, orâ?!) or as serious as you like. It can be as long as you like and it does not need to be a simple sequence of panels, it could get way more complicated!

I will try to set up an opinion poll so visitors can vote for the ones they like the most. The winning entry will definitely be posted as an item here on MandE NEWS and be publicised via Twitter. The deadline:

May 31st might do. One proviso: Nothing obscene or libelous
