

Accountability Principles for Research Organisations

Description

A report by Brendan Whitty, One World Trust, 2009?

Tweet

This report

- develops a framework for analysing accountability from a normative and instrumental perspective
- allows think-tanks and research institutes to identify and balance their stakeholders;
- presents guidelines to assist the practical implementation of accountability principles

The versions available

- Accountability Principles for Research Organisations Executive Summary
- Accountability Principles for Research Organisations Full Report
- Accountability Principles for Research Organisations Toolkit

The contents

Acknowledgements 2

Glossary 4

Introduction 5

The benefits of accountability in research 6

A definition of “accountability” 7

Four principles of accountability 8

Two reasons why accountability matters 10

The normative reason: ethical demands of accountability 11

The instrumental reason: the benefits of being responsive 14

Concluding remarks 19

Tensions and challenges of accountability in research 21

Methodology 21

Two factors determining accountability tensions and challenges 24

Concluding remarks 31

Implementing accountability in research and related processes 32

Process 1: Defining strategy 32

Process 2: Defining programmatic structure 35

Process 3: Forming partnerships; engaging in networks and coalitions 36

Process 4: Identifying research priorities 39

Process 5: Planning research projects 42

Process 6: Evaluating and Learning 42

Process 7: Conducting the research 45

Process 8: Conducting advocacy and outreach 50

Process 9: Empowering communities 53

Two policies: information release and complaints handling 54

Conclusion 58

Bibliography 59

Annex: Interviewed Organisations 67

Tags

1. accountability
2. research

Date

13/01/2025

Date Created

26/08/2009

Author

admin